AGENCY'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

The main service of the SCDNR is the protection and propagation of an enviable quality of life for citizens of the state, which is created by the quality and abundance of South Carolina's natural resources. The wealth created by these natural resources is unsurpassed by other states and regions of the country and attracts and sustains business activity, which translates into economic wealth for all South Carolinians and is an essential component for the state's economic development. SCDNR's products and services include administrative licensing/permitting processes and procedures, public outreach programs and activities that range from general information to detailed resource management, and promotion of South Carolina through the responsible use of these invaluable assets.

Internal Factors affecting the agency's performance

Customer Accessibility/Customer Service: SCDNR's main licensing and boating customer service area is currently located on the first floor of the Rembert C. Dennis Building, fronting Assembly St., on the Statehouse grounds. This location has become increasingly problematic for public access. As the City of Columbia has steadily reduced the number of street parking spaces on Assembly St., this change has had a direct and negative impact on those customers attempting do business with the department. Additionally, impending development and streetscaping along Assembly St. will only exacerbate this problem.

Lost productivity while new employees are trained: Over the past three years the department has required that most new hire positions and promotions be posted internally before being posted externally. This commitment to existing employees does not guarantee them the new position; however, it simply ensures that they will get first consideration, if they meet the qualifications to perform the jobs duties. This policy resulted in the upward mobility of proven employees, but it also created major voids in experience within the department. In certain areas, productivity has been lost during the training period.

External Factors affecting the agency's performance

Finding new and adequate funding streams to successfully protect and manage the unique natural and cultural resources of South Carolina in a climate of economic uncertainty. Given the lesser priority status some assign to natural resource concerns, the Agency historically has been at risk for deeper cuts than other agencies during negative budget cycles, which can make the recovery from those cuts, extend for a longer period of time.

During an earlier economic downturn as the Agency realized a $12.8 million (or 41%) reduction in state appropriated funds from July 2001 through June 30, 2004, DNR responded to these cuts by reducing and eliminating several programs, maximizing non-appropriated funding (grants, federal funding and cost sharing) and by not replacing vacant staff positions. Over the past few years, even though some of DNR's operational funding has been restored; the human capital deficiency is still being felt. The impact of the aforementioned staff reductions has lead to the agency's inability to succession plan in many critical areas where key functions are literally one staff person deep with the experience necessary to perform functions.

Current Performance Improvement Efforts

- Director Taylor recently initiated a comprehensive review of the agency's current strategic plan "Vision for the Future" which was developed in FY 2005-06.
- DNR utilizes a Regional HUB system to coordinate agency programs and activities. In the Regional Hub system the state is divided into four regional hubs. Each of the Agency's Divisions has a Regional Hub Coordinator whose primary function is to coordinate his/her respective Division's activities alongside his/her counterparts in order to ensure better coordination. This regional approach ensures better communication, coordination of efforts, and quicker response times, thus avoiding unnecessary duplication of efforts.
- SCDNR's employs an internal auditor who works as a consultant with staff on various procedural and financial issues to ensure efficiency, while being in compliance with various state and federal laws, rules and regulations. The auditor also serves as the liaison to all external entities that have provided funding to the agency and are auditing their respective grant, contract or program.
- Youth Outreach Initiatives - This past year over 40,000 youth across the state participated in the DNR outreach programs as part of an attempt to reach and create young sportsmen across the state. These programs range from fishing rodeos & clinics, the Archery in the Schools program that covers archery history, safety, technique, equipment, mental concentration, and self-improvement to the Take One Make One Program which is an outdoors education and mentoring program aimed at developing South Carolina's youth and young adults, 10 to 17 years of age, into lifetime participants in conservation, hunting, angling, and shooting sports activities.
- This past year over 20,000 people participated in hunter and boater education safety outreach programs that promote safety, improve compliance with the states laws and regulations, and enhance ethical behavior. Tasked with the responsibility of managing and protecting the natural resources of the state, the DNR is in a unique and challenging position of balancing the public desire to utilize our natural resources for recreational and commercial purposes, with the need to implement restrictions on the use of the resources to ensure their long-term viability. The proactive educational outreach approach is complimented by a truly balanced enforcement approach. The DNR officers are as likely to educate the public regarding a violation through the use of warnings, as they are to bring formal charges. This ratio has remained fairly consistent over time as the DNR officers have consistently written approximately 3 warning tickets for every 1 summons ticket.
- License Term Modifications: Implementation of the 3-year license and the 365-day Hunting & Fishing license term. The two following changes are intended to provide better service and more value to customers and aids DNR by: (1) allowing customers to reduce their frequency to obtain a license and (2) allowing the DNR to better serve its customers by eventually dispersing extremely high volumes of work throughout the year.

Starting in July 2010, the DNR began offering a 3-year resident and non-resident recreational fishing license. The 3-Year license not only reduced the need for the customer to return to the DNR as often, it also means that on average, 15,000 licensees a year have been pre-serviced, allowing staff resources to be reallocated to more complex and/or higher volume areas of the Licensing and Boat Titling and Registration sections.

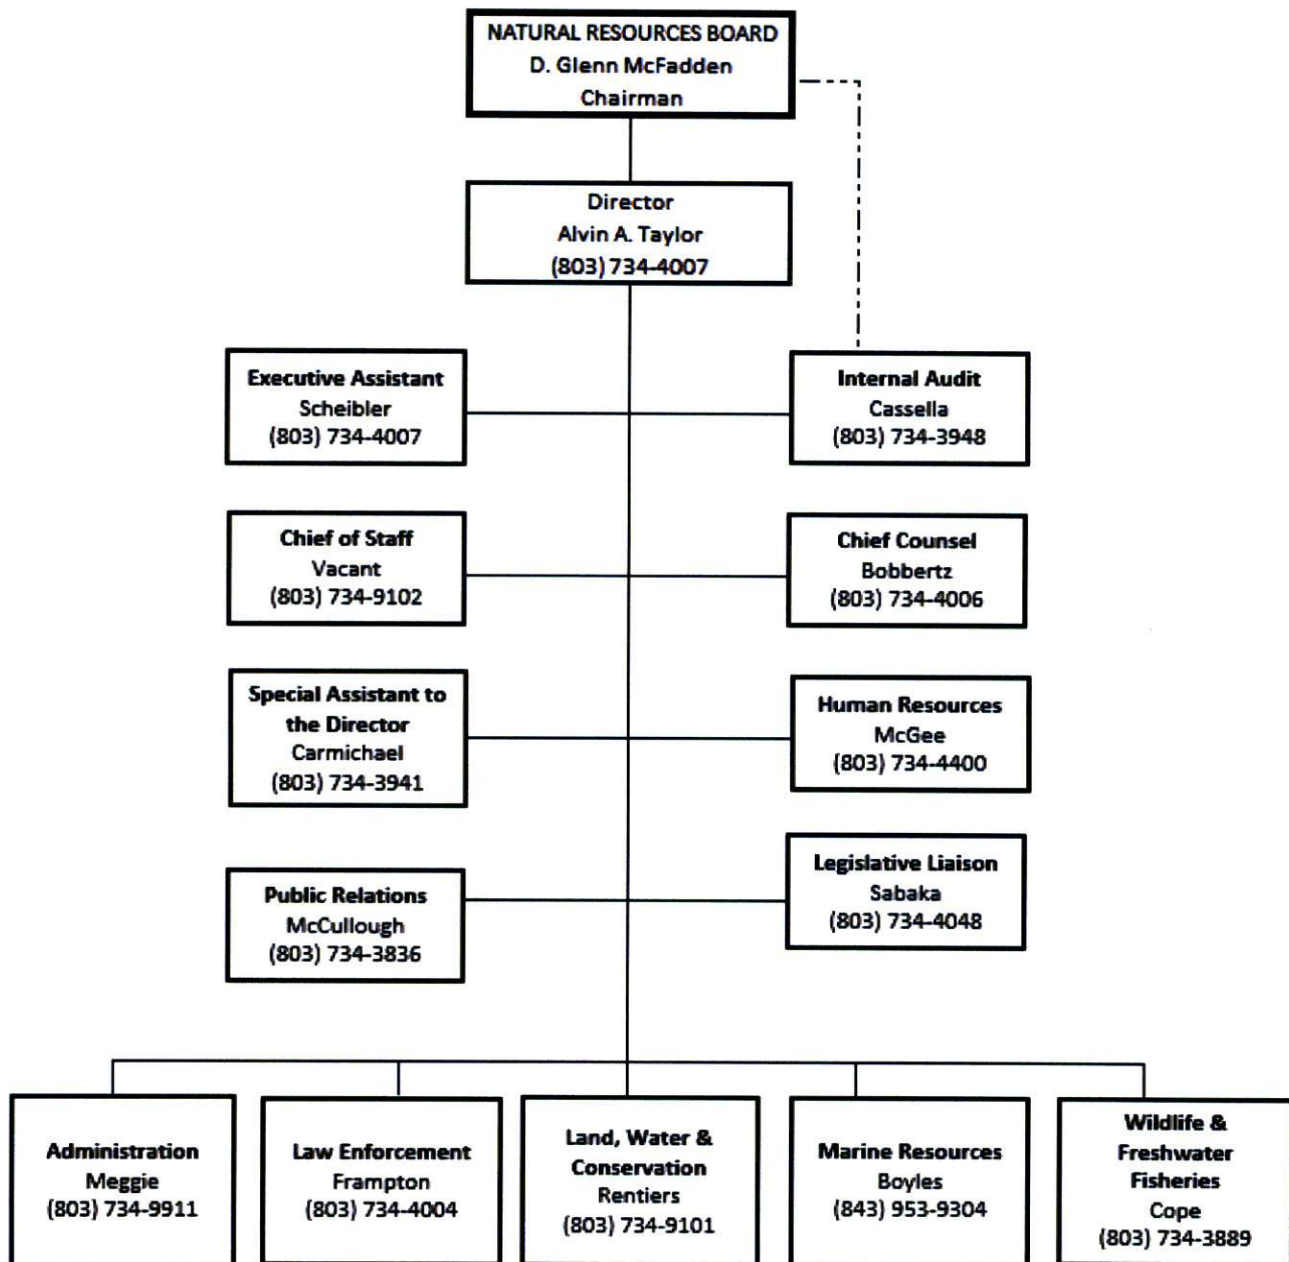

On January 1, 2014, the DNR began issuing Saltwater fishing licenses that had expiration dates based on the date of sale instead of the license year (365 –Day License). On January 1, 2015, the 365-Day hunting and freshwater fishing licenses and Wildlife Management Area permits began to be sold. This change from the fiscal year eliminated two major issues: (1) fishing licenses that were purchased in the spring no longer had to be repurchased on July 1st and (2) the licensing volumes over a period of years should more evenly be dispersed throughout the year, based on user needs and not a fiscal year.
