for furnishing the information used in this circular, and for his time verifying the data.

COVER PHOTOGRAPH: A preform of a bowl attached to a soapstone boulder. This "soapstone quarry", worked by native Americans, is evidence of perhaps the earliest mineral production in the State. The site is near Pacolet in Spartanburg County, South Carolina.
