

Coyote Trapping and Management Workshop

March 6-7, 2015

Webb Wildlife Center
1282 Webb Avenue
Garnett, SC 29922

The South Carolina Department of Natural Resources, in conjunction with the South Carolina Trappers Association, will host a Coyote Trapping and Management Workshop at the Webb Wildlife Center, located in Hampton County on March 6-7, 2015. The workshop will start at 2pm on Friday and end at approximately 5pm on Saturday.

This coyote management workshop will cover such topics as:

- Coyote biology and management
- General trapping equipment
- Trap selection and modification
- Trap preparation
- Trap site selection
- Various trap sets
- Bait/lure selection and use
- Trapping safety
- Running a trap line
- Record keeping

Previous trapping experience is not required, but everyone attending will be expected to set traps and participate with the group, rain or shine, hot or cold. This is an extended hands-on trapping workshop for individuals who want to learn to manage coyotes. It will involve extensive outdoor participation, often over uneven terrain.

The cost for the workshop is $100 and includes overnight bunkhouse style accommodations at the Webb Wildlife Center, dinner on Friday, and breakfast and lunch on Saturday.

The maximum number of attendees for this workshop is 30. Registration closes when 30 people have registered and paid. A waiting list will be created for cancellations and for future workshop early notifications.
