Board Information Items

Completed Projects

Ken Prosser, Assistant Deputy Director for the DNR's Wildlife and Freshwater Fisheries Division, updated members on properties acquired during the 2013 and 2014 calendar year. He noted that DNR owns approximately 285,000 acres. Of that amount, approximately 90,000 acres are dedicated through a system of 74 Heritage Preserves. During the two-year period, Mr. Prosser reported that 10 different properties comprising 4,643 acres were acquired in nine different counties. Three of the tracts were purchased below fair market value and six others were donations. A total of $5.03 million was spent to purchase them. The value of all donated property was $10 million. Mr. Prosser concluded by stating partnerships with other public and private sector entities played a vital role in acquiring these tracts.

A brief discussion followed on the 150,000 acreage cap mandated by state law. Ken Rentiers made the suggestion that a status report be presented at the next meeting to discuss this matter and other associated topics, including the process of dedication.

Fort Frederick

Mr. Rentiers commended Sean Taylor, Meg Gaillard, and Brian Long for the outstanding job they have done on this preserve.

Sean Taylor updated the Board on the work that took place at Fort Frederick Heritage Preserve in Beaufort County during the winter of 2014/2015. He reported that Colin Brooker & Associates completed the tabby restoration of the fort. The South Carolina Institute of Archaeology and Anthropology completed excavations at the preserve and are now analyzing the material remains and writing their report. The South Carolina Archaeology Public Outreach Division assisted with four days of public tours. Mr. Taylor said four films about the work at Fort Frederick were completed by Koelker & Associates and he showed them to the Board. The titles are Tabby, Archaeology, History, and Public Tours. They were funded in part by grants from the Harry Hampton Memorial Wildlife Fund and the Humanities Council of South Carolina, and by Heritage Trust funds. These films will be available for the public to view on the SCDNR website later this year, and will be supplemented by lesson plans and other materials for incorporation into the classroom.
